About the Course

Pharmacy practice is an integral part of the pharmacy discipline. Patient counseling is an important element of pharmacy practice. Pharmacy graduates should, therefore, be exposed to the art and science of patient counseling. Unfortunately this area is unexplored in Bangladesh. However, it is time to bridge the gap and expand the scope of pharmacy practice. It is a matter of great hope that a number of hospitals have started hiring pharmacists in Bangladesh. The concept of community pharmacy will also gain popularity in the near future. In light of the future possibilities, this course aims to make pharmacy graduates future-ready and competent. In addition, it is popular among pharmacy graduates who are trained in Bangladesh to practice pharmacy abroad such as in Canada, Australia, UK and the USA. This short course will thus be immensely helpful in their career path.

About the Instructor

Dr. Mesbah Talukder completed his Ph.D. in Pharmacology from University of Cambridge, UK under the IDB-Cambridge International Scholarship program. He earned his B. Pharm. and M.
